EPIDAVROS

Epidaurus is an area of mainland Greece which is found at the Peloponnese region. The most important sight in Epidaurus Greece is the Ancient Theatre. Apart from the symmetry of this structure, the theater is unique because of its excellent state of conservation, which allows it to be still in working order. Another distinctive detail about this construction is the perfect acoustics. In fact, if you drop a pin on the stage, it will be heard even if your sitting at the last seats of the theater.

HYDRA ISLAND

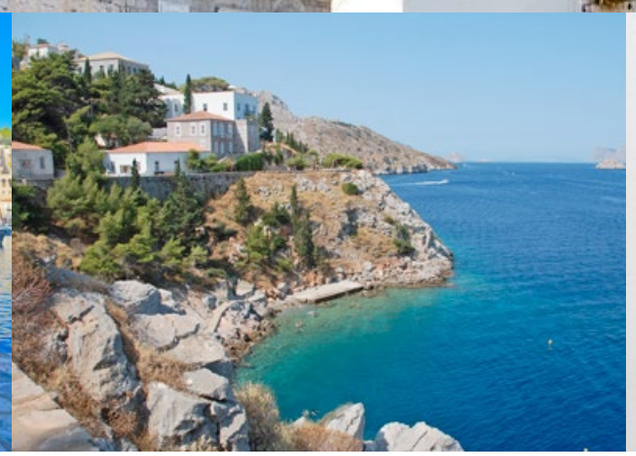

Hydra became famous all over the world in 1957 when the film "Boy on a Dolphin" was shot on the island with Sophia Loren leading the starring role; it is ever since that Ydra has been attracting the artistic, the wealthy and fashionable! A jet setter's haven, it has been home to Leonard Cohen and other celebrities; time has been spent here by John Lennon, Peter Ustinov, Melina Merkouri and many others as this island's jet set reputation is only second to that of Mykonos!

SPETSES ISLAND

Cosmopolitan, historic and elegant Spetses lies at the southeast of the Argosaronic Gulf. It was named by the Venetians “isola di spezzie”, aka the “island of scents”. Its history, however, is much more exciting than that. Spetses is one of the Greek islands that played a major role to the Greek Revolution of 1821.

POROS ISLAND

Verdant Poros is small in size but generous otherwise. It feels like a coastal town, as it's separated by the Peloponnese only by a narrow sea channel. At the same time, though, it boasts all of the qualities found in the Greek islands of the Argosaronic Gulf.

AEGINA ISLAND

Aegina Greece is a verdant island known for its great production of colorful pistachios. The Greek Island has a lovely capital full of fine neoclassical buildings and narrow alleys where one can enjoy fresh fish and excellent appetizers in the taverns of the fish market, in the heart of the town. The 5th century BC temple of Aphaia can be visited; it is located in an area full of olive and pine trees, overlooking the deep blue sea.
